

This Week at

Volume 6, Issue 31

Friday, October 11, 2019

More October News at

- A very popular Autumn activity is apple picking at a local Sussex County apple farm. Jen Kovach (and our Pre-vocation community based crew) picks local apples at our local Beemerville Orchards Farm in Wantage. Everyone enjoys picking and eating local apples in the Fall. An apple a day

- Betsy Heathwood of our Frankford group and Desiree our manager went to Yankee Stadium and watched their favorite team... the Boston Red Sox. Betsy's cousin Bobby used to play for the Boston Red Sox, but he's retired now. Betsy remembers the story that she and her family used to go to Fenway Park and watch Boston Red Sox games. Her sister also resides in Boston who Betsy wishes to visit again.

- Residents of our Newton group home attended the recent annual community night performance by the Big Apple Circus at the Sussex County Fairgrounds. SCARC was given 100 tickets for the Circus, and once we announced the availability of the tickets, they were grabbed up in a couple of hours. We are appreciative of Big Apple's invitation to SCARC to attend the annual Circus event.

- Our own Chief Operating Officer Janis Woersching is celebrating her 15th year of employment as our COO. Previously, Janis worked at SCARC for 11 years in various capacities of director of community services: 26 years in all! Congratulations Janis!

• Sharon Hoffman (l) and Cheryl Nance (r), staff at our Dykstra Center were honored for their "going beyond the call of duty" in helping our Branchville group home residents when we had to close the Dykstra Center early last week due to a water well pump breakdown. In the photo is Irene Shanahan, center, manager of the Branchville home. Their flexibility and team spirit drew attention from our Human Services department, and thus, the honor and flowers.

- It was National Coffee with a Cop Day at Hayek's Market with several Newton Police officers with SCARC individuals from our Eickmann Center. We had an enjoyable interaction with the Newton Police department while celebrating how police protect and guide us in the town. Thank you Newton Police Department!